

ABSTRACT

A light source structure has a guidelight plate, a lighting unit with a lighting member and a plurality of lighting components respectively disposed on sides of the guidelight plate. According to particular locations of the 5 lighting member and the lighting components, the light source structure is thin, small, and cheap, with the added benefits of a high luminance and a high uniformity thereof.